w. (30SW/ME)

x. Motorcycle Safety Day: This event is scheduled for Wednesday, 23 Jun 04 from 0900—1500 at the Base Parade Grounds. y. Driving Safety: What motivates young drivers to speed--Overconfidence in one's driving abilities? Emotional rush? Poor driving habits? Calculated odds that a Highway Patrolman won't catch them? Whatever the reason, these drivers need to know the risks they're taking; the consequences--legal, misdemeanor or felony--and financial. Research has deducted, and statistics substantiate that young males, aged 18—25 years, are the most at risk. Our young Airmen don't have to die, especially if all it takes is a "talking to", which will reach some, if not all of them. Bottom-line: If you know a driver that has a "lead foot", inform his/her supervisor--someone out there who loves that speed demon will thank you for trying to stop the carnage! (30SW/SEGB, 6-8804)

z. Airmen Against Drunk Driving (AADD): Think Safety Before You Start!! Here are your choices for a safe ride home: Call AADD at 605-AADD/606-AADD for an anonymous free ride home, or get a complimentary ride from your First Sergeant when you have to be picked up. Tough decision? (30CES/CEOM, 6-7760)

b. First Tip: Preview how an Excel 2000 spreadsheet will look as a Web page - Excel 2000 vastly improves the way Excel works with HTML files, making it easier than ever to save a worksheet as a Web page. Before you go through the steps to convert an Excel worksheet to a Web page, you can get a quick preview of how it will look. To do so, simply choose Web Page Preview from the File menu, and an HTML version of your worksheet is opened in your browser. Second Tip: Turning Access control text on its side - Although you can't incorporate different page orientations into a single report, you can simulate the effect by rotating text in label and textbox controls. To do so, simply set a control's Vertical property to 'Yes'. Note that changing the property doesn't physically rotate the control, it just changes how the text is displayed -- you'll usually need to resize the control to properly show the rotated text.
