b. First Tip: Launch hyperlinked files faster during your PowerPoint presentation - When you click on a hyperlink during a presentation, sometimes you feel like the file's host program takes forever to launch. You should prepare for this wait and have material to stall with so that there's no awkward silence. But there's also another remedy to the situation. Prior to the start of the slideshow, open the host application of the file that you have hyperlinked on one of your slides, such as QuickTime. Then when it's time to launch the file or movie, the lag time is greatly reduced and your presentation appears more seamless. Second Tip: You may like to see your Microsoft Internet Explorer browser links underlined - and then again, you may not! If you'd like to turn off the underlining, choose 'Internet Options' on the Tools menu. When the dialog box opens, click the Advanced tab. Scroll down to 'Underline Links'. You have three choices here--you can always underline links, you can underline links only when the mouse pointer passes over them (Hover), or you can turn off underlining completely. Select the appropriate radio button and click OK.
